
Hany Atallah , M.D. BIO

Dr. Hany Atallah is an Assistant Professor of Emergency Medicine at Emory University and also currently serves as an Assistant Medical Director of the Emergency Care Center at Grady Memorial Hospital. He has also held a joint appointment with the Emory University School of Nursing in the past and has provided Disaster training throughout Georgia as a BDLIS instructor. In addition, he has been involved in international emergency medicine training in the Peoples Republic of Georgia.

Medical School:

New York Medical College, 1999

Internship:

Jacobi Medical Center, 2000

Residency:

Jacobi Medical Center, 2003